Dear Mr. Broyhill:

Thank you for your letter of 4 April concerning [redacted] who is interested in a clerical position for the summer months.

STAT

The cost of the security investigation and other processing which is required before entering an employee on duty is prohibitive for short-term employment. Our few summer employees come from families of Agency employees about whom the required information is readily available.

I regret to advise you that we would not be able to assist [redacted]. We are returning his Form 57 to you so that he may be considered by other agencies in which the security factors are less restrictive.

Thank you again for bringing [redacted] to my attention. I hope that he is successful in locating suitable employment to provide funds for his education.

ILLEGIB

Honorable Joel T. Broghill
House of Representatives
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Broghill:

Thank you for your letter of 4 April concerning [redacted]
[redacted] who is interested in a clerical position for the summer months.

We have found it desirable to employ some extra clerical personnel during the summer months but the cost in time and money of the security investigation and other processing which is required before entering an employee on duty is prohibitive for short term employment. Consequently, we have met these needs through recruitment among the dependents of Agency employees on whom current security records are already available. The additional cost of processing these young people is minimal and they have provided an adequate and effective source for meeting our requirements for summer-only employees.

I regret therefore to advise you that we would not be able to assist [redacted] by offering him employment and am returning his Form 57 to you so that he may be considered by other agencies in which the security factors are less restrictive.

Thank you again for bringing [redacted] to my attention. I hope that he is successful in locating suitable employment to provide funds for his education.

Sincerely,

Allen W. Dulles
